Boston. Architect. Kennedy, Robert Woods

“Robert Woods Kennedy, at 73; Award-Winning Architect, Author”

Died of lung cancer at Mt. Auburn Hospital, Cambridge. He was born in Boston, and studied at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris and the Harvard School of Architecture and Design. He was the first American to work for Gropius and Breuer shortly after the international firm relocated from Europe to Boston. He later taught architecture at MIT.

He was primarily an architect of private residences, integrating the International Style with a New England vernacular. He also designed stores, factories and theaters and a modern high-rise apartment building at 100 Memorial Drive. He won design awards and was an author of a book, an autobiography, architectural articles and short stories.

Prudential Center Redevelopment
Boston, Massachusetts
Sikes Jennings Kelly & Brewer
Carr Lynch Hack & Sandell

→ COMMISSIONED TO PLAN THE 1.8 MILLION-SQUARE-FOOT REDEVELOPMENT of Boston's Prudential Center, Sikes Jennings Kelly & Brewer of Houston and local firm Carr Lynch Hack & Sandell located future buildings on the site's perimeter to form street walls that relate to adjacent structures. A 36-story office tower by Childs Bertman Tseckares & Casendino of Boston to the south, a yet-to-be-commissioned 10-story building to the north, and residential structures will join an existing convention center, hotel, and department stores. To integrate the 27-acre site with the neighborhood, SJK&B designed intersecting glass-roofed retail arcades to create an enclosed court (far right). Steel armatures support a glass roof, while a glass curtain wall offers views of a landscaped plaza. Future development will include a 45,000-square-foot market by Leers Weinzapfel Associates. Completion of phase one, which began construction last July, is scheduled for mid-1993. ■

"As every community grows in wealth, education & refinement, the demand that arises for magnificent public bldgs and beautiful private dwellings, tending alike to embellish & beautify its surroundings, has long been a marked feature of our land. Particularly is this true of Boston, the citizens of which have long been known throughout the country for their remarkable appreciation & support of any undertaking calculated to promote or elevate the taste of her inhabitants. The profession of an architect requires years of study, & in addition a practical education--not such as may be gleaned from books, but practical in active service & thorough mechanical training. In connection with these preliminaries the attention of the reader is directed to G. Wilton Lewis, the architect who designed & built the Preston Building on Summer st, and who is located at No. 28 School st. Mr. Lewis is a native of N.Y. state, & was ~~born~~ in 1845. Supported by an active experience of 25 years in every part of the business of which he is an honorable exponent, he came here in 1872 and opened an office at No. 18 Pemberton Square. He has been the occupant of the present neat & comfortable office since 1881, & for the transaction of his large & pressing business, extending through N.E. & including all styles & sorts of architectural work, Mr. Lewis employs a number of experienced assts. He enlisted in the One Hundred & Twelfth N.Y.V. at the outbreak of the Revellion & served through the whole of the war."

Architect. Lord & Fuller
19 Exchange Place

"Among the leading architects of Boston is the well-known firm of Lord & Fuller, whose handsome & capacious offices are located at No. 19 Exchange Place. They have been associated in the business for over 25 years & have erected many of the most prominent bldgs all over the state, incl. school-houses, churches, town halls, & public work of all kinds, & in the city they have put up many bldgs. & stores. They know that the true archit. must consider the all-important matters of drainage & Ventilation, &, accordingly, they pay the greatest attn to these subjects, as well as to light, acoustics, etc, & it will be found that all the bldgs of their construction are thoroughly healthy, & many of the largest landowners have all of their bldgs erected
